What is CP?

CP is NOT:

- contagious,
- hereditary, or
- life-threatening

Damage to the brain
during pregnancy
through age 3
may result in CP

1 of every 500
babies and up to 1 in 3 premature babies are affected by CP
to some extent

A term used to describe a group
of disorders
affecting muscle
coordination and
body movement

Covers a broad span of disability from a slight speech impediment (mild) to cases of
virtually no muscle
control (severe)

It's estimated that over 50,000 Canadians have CP
